Employee Engagement Report | Jay Hunter

Reviewed KPIs. It was reported that total healthcare provision per employee was tracking well and fluctuated regularly. It was also reported that monthly training hours were lower than goal, which was attributed to apprentice mechanic training being completed. A question was asked about Metro's overall number of mechanics, and it was reported that Metro currently has -2 mechanics under budget.

Safety & Security Report | Quentin Wyatt

Reviewed KPIs. There were zero injuries for the previous month. A report was given on preventable accidents related to entering/exiting the garage, and procedures and initiative to prevent further accidents was discussed, including increased signage around the garage door. A question was asked about the average seniority of drivers who had accidents. It was reported that it was not new or trainee drivers causing the discussed accidents. It was discussed that it is common that drivers who are neither highest nor lowest seniority are often the drivers who cause accidents. A question was asked about whether video footage of the accidents was reviewed, and it reported that it was, and the analysis concluded operator error. A request was made to research accidents as it relates to time on the job.
